- Or would you prefer to be a better leader?
- Are you too busy to do a leadership programme?
- Do you want to ask better questions, rather than settle for good answers?
- Is doing the right thing as important to you as doing things right?
- Would you benefit from being more self-aware as a leader?

If you are a director or senior executive in your organisation and are keen to grow as a leader, building a better organisation that contributes to a better society, this Advanced Leadership Programme (ALP) with peer leaders may be transformational for you and your organisation.

A LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME FOR LEADERS TOO BUSY TO DO ONE

- A leadership programme for senior and experienced executives
- Peer-to-peer learning from a very diverse spectrum of leaders
- Orchestrated by world-class educators from Harvard, IESE and other leading business schools
- Diary-friendly, just 2 days per month from January to June
- Using the practical and satisfying Harvard case method of learning
- Stretching your critical thinking and decision-making capabilities
- Reflecting on the key strategic challenges facing you as a leader today

“

The longer you are in a role, the easier it is to get stuck where you think you might have all the answers. This programme is full of leadership nuggets. You can learn from a gathering such as this where they are all leaders and are curious to see how they can become better and improve.

“

I think the course has challenged my thinking in a few ways. One of the most obvious ones is I've learned a lot. Areas like corporate governance and digital marketing are spaces I've never worked in. Just even the pure learning and immersion in those topics was very valuable.

ADVANCED LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME (ALP)

The Timoney ALP is a rich general management programme for time-pressed senior executives with a growth mindset and a desire to continue learning. It is for leaders in top management positions who want to learn from the similarities rather than the differences in companies and industries.

The ALP attracts a diverse cohort from a wide range of organisations and sectors: both public and private, SME and Multinationals across Ireland, North and South, and Great Britain.

Through one-to-one executive coaching and interactive Harvard case discussions with peers, facilitated by our international faculty, you will gain deep insights and learn new approaches to embracing key challenges and opportunities.

This residential programme in inspiring settings - 2 days per month in the K Club (Ireland), IESE (Barcelona) and San Telmo (Seville) - builds strong bonds of trust between participants which extends beyond the ALP when you join the Timoney Alumni Association of leaders.

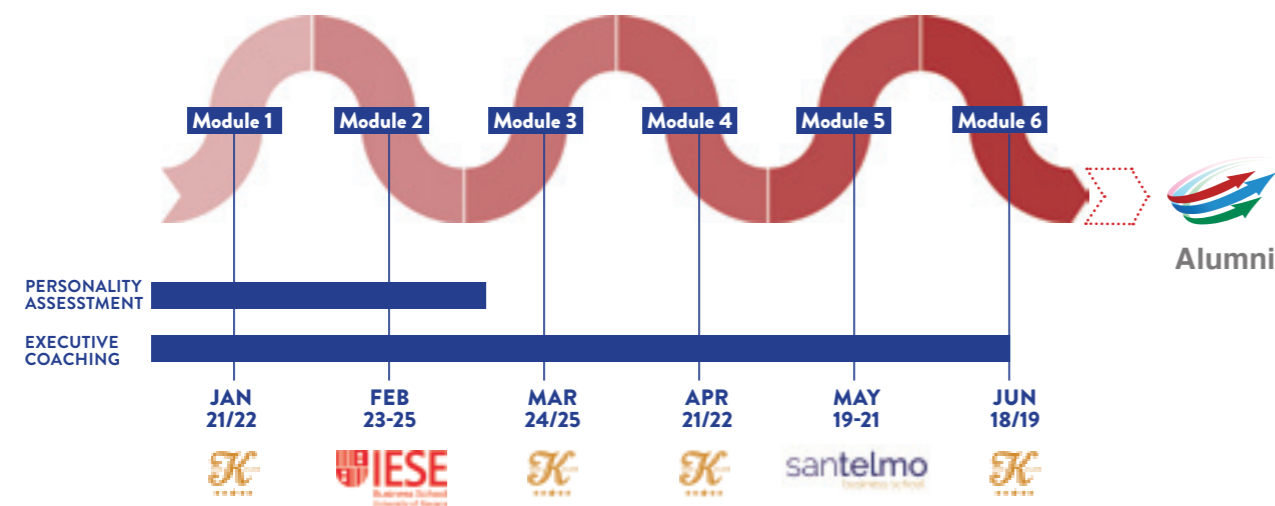

We make extensive use of the Harvard Case Method to inform, illuminate and inspire, drawing on the wisdom and experience, not only of our world-class faculty but, importantly, of your fellow peer leaders on the ALP.

To advance leadership self-awareness and operationalise the insights from the ALP and the executive coaching, each participant undertakes a personality and cognitive ability assessment.

MODULAR LEARNING EXPERIENCE

6 month programme - 2 days per month - residential in K Club Hotel (Kildare), IESE Business School (Barcelona) and San Telmo Business School (Seville).

HARVARD CASE STUDY METHOD

Addressing key strategic topics common to leaders and organisations, we discuss 5 or 6 cases on each module. Individual preparation of each case takes place in advance so that you can discuss and debate with fellow participants and faculty during each module.

LET OUR WORLD-CLASS FACULTY INSPIRE YOU

Learning from peers is invaluable. Our talented educators from world-class Business Schools such as Harvard & IESE, will enrich that learning. With the assistance of San Telmo Business School in Seville, Timoney has assembled a unique panel of engaging professors.

“ You cannot manage other people unless you manage yourself first. ”

Peter Drucker

“ Leadership is about doing the right things. Management is about doing things right. So having a lot of folks who can do things right, that’s management! But having folks who can do the right things in their organisation – that’s leadership! The globe needs a lot more of those folks and that is what this programme is intended to achieve. ”
